Important information ESE 2020 MAINS EXAM

Dear Students,

As per the recent notification UPSC has postponed the Engineering Services Examination (ESE) Mains -2020 second time from August 9 to some future date not announced yet and will be notified later. MADE EASY will conduct the ESE Mains Test Series as per the current schedule through ONLINE mode (Physical QCABs will not be sent at this stage). You must continue your preparation with the current momentum which you have gained and must appear in the Full Syllabus Tests to check your preparedness, evaluate performance & identify your mistakes and weak areas.

After completing your preparation & giving MADE EASY Test Series, Now restart your focussed revision and work on your weak areas through self assessment based on our Test Series. Continuity in preparation & revision is an absolute must and never ending process till the actual exam is conducted.

I would like to add here that, once the final date of the ESE (Mains 2020) exam is announced by UPSC then MADE EASY will conduct some Additional Full Syllabus Tests - Free of Cost to its students which would be based on QCAB. If conditions permit then these additional full syllabus tests may be conducted Offline with physical means at our MADE EASY centres. But in case conditions are not found suitable and favourable then QCABs and Question papers shall be made available from our centres or we will send QCABs & question papers to all the classroom & Offline Test Series registered candidates at their home address.

Students should also note that the Telegram group of ESE (Mains) exclusive will be active till 31st July 2020, therefore all students are advised to read & finish your syllabus and discuss and get your doubts cleared accordingly. After 31st July, all mains groups will remain inactive till our next notification, which will be at our discretion and will be based on the final examination date of ESE Mains -2020

Regarding the validity date of mains Online lectures, we will do an assessment, review the condition and will take appropriate decisions on validity date which shall be informed shortly.

Best Wishes to all
